non-members on Tuesday. Each day registration will begin at 8 a.m. The registration table will be set up in the YMCA game room. Classes for this session will begin Nov. 5 and end Dec. 22.

A large variety of classes are being offered during the session. Tammy Hamm, program director, has developed various ways for presented testimony with the leapeople to keep in shape. "We'll have our regular fitness classes such as doff witness being Gov. Allen I. Olson of North Dakota.

Y's Workout, Fitness to Music and Bodyworks. For moms and or moms-to-be, we have our pre-natal and post-natal baby exercise." For beginning exercisers, people can enroll in the S.T.A.R.T. Fitness

"The way to stay trim is to have a personal fitness evaluation and then enroll in the National Y's Slim Living program," said Hamm. Fitness evaluations are done by appoint-

"For a problem back, Y's Way to a Healthy Back is a cure," Hamm said. It is a new class being offered this session.

The volleyball league will again be held starting this winter. David Johnson, program director. has planned upcoming racquetball tournaments. People can sign up for sons for kids, too. Johnson also works with noon fitness and happy hour fitness programs for men and

Tammy Gandrud, program director, has several youth activities planned, "Preschoolers can do anything from tumbling to dancing to crafty things." Three new classes are Surf and Turf where grade schoolers can enjoy 45 minutes of gym and 45 minutes of pool activity. For junior high boys there is instructional weight training and for leading and aerobics. For adults Gandrud has planned a social ballroom dance class. It isfor all of those who need to learn the new basics or polish up the old routines," she said. Aquatic supervisor Madonna Marquardt has scheduled swimming pool activities. "Aquarobics or synchronized swimming is a wonderful way to get trim," she said. There are also classes for those who need to learn how to swim or want to be more comfortable in the water. We have classes for six month olds (in 96 degree water) all the way up to adult classes," Marquardt said
